Nixon due queries on CIA

O.N.Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — Former President Richard M. Nixon has agreed to testify in the next 60 days before the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence but will reserve his right to refuse to answer certain questions, either by invoking the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination or the principle of executive privilege, according to sources familiar with the investigation.

This will be the first time Nixon has gone before a Congressional committee since becoming President in 1969. Throughout the Watergate case and since leaving office he has fended off attempts to call him before several House and Senate bodies.

President Ford's pardon of Nixon protects him against criminal prosecution for any actions while president. Nixon, by his own account, was, while vice president, the liaison officer between the Eisenhower administration and the Central Intelligence Agency during the planning of the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba.

The pardon would not cover that period.

The testimony will be taken in California in either late December or early January, according to the sources. There will be no broadcast coverage, but it may be open to news reporters. If the testimony would be taken in a closed session, there would be no bars to using it in a public report, according to these sources.

The Senate committee wants to ask Nixon about covert operations while he was in office, including United States efforts to unseat President Salvador Allende Gossens of Chile.

It began a series of sensitive negotiations with Nixon's lawyers last summer that came to fruition earlier this month. The agreement was worked out in written exchanges between F.A.O. Schwarz 3d, the committee counsel, and Herbert J. Miller, Nixon's lawyer.

The entire scope of the committee's questioning is not known, but the following areas are expected to be covered:

Levi orders King death probe check

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Edward Levi has ordered the Justice Department to review an FBI investigation into the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. and advise him whether to order it reopened. It was announced today.

A Justice Department spokesman said Levi took the action "in view of" disclosures before the Senate Intelligence Committee that the FBI conducted a program of harassing the late civil rights leader for seven years prior to his death in 1968.

King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and winner of a Nobel Peace Prize for his crusade on behalf of blacks, was shot to death at a motel during a visit to Memphis, Tenn.

"I have asked Assistant Attorneys General J. Stanley Feltner and Richard L. Thornburgh to review the file and recommend to me whether the investigation should be reopened," Levi said in a statement released by the Justice Department.

Feltner is head of the department's civil rights division and Thornburgh head of the criminal division.

The FBI has been given credit for tracking down King's convicted slayer, James Earl Ray, who is serving a life prison sentence in Tennessee for the killing.

Justice Department spokesman John Wilson said Levi sent memos to Feltner and Thornburgh last Monday emphasizing his action was not in itself a reopening of the investigation and said Levi has no indication that the original investigation was less than thorough.

Levi, in fact, said he had been advised by a Justice Department attorney that the FBI made an "incredibly good" investigation into King's death and there was no indication that the FBI may have pulled its punches.

The Senate Select Committee on Intelligence reviewed this month that the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover considered King a "dangerous" black leader and instructed agents to do all they could to blunt his effectiveness.

Sakharov sends wife for Nobel prize

MOSCOW (UPI) — Physicist Andrei D. Sakharov, refused a visa by Soviet authorities to pick up his Nobel Peace Prize in Oslo next month, said today he has authorized his wife to represent him at the ceremony.

In an open letter to the Nobel Committee of the Norwegian Parliament, he asked that his wife, Yelena, be considered his "authorized representative" for all matters concerning the Dec. 10 award ceremony.

Japan's transport halted by strike

TOKYO (UPI) — Hundreds of thousands of militant government workers stopped trains, halted mail delivery and curtailed vital public services throughout Japan today in a massive nationwide strike.

The 80,000-member Council of Public Corporation and Government Enterprise Workers Unions started the walkout at midnight, vowing to paralyze public services until Saturday.

McGovern won't back busing foes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said today he probably will not run for president again next year but he will not support any Democratic candidate who promises a constitutional amendment against school busing.

He said he could not support Alabama Gov. George Wallace and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., as Democratic candidates "if they persist in that course" of support for a busing amendment.

Soviet vessel sinks after collision

FRESHWATER BAY, England (UPI) — A 4,400-ton Soviet vessel collided with another ship and sank in the English Channel today. Accompanying Soviet vessels warned foreign ships to stay clear and rescued the crew.

Waldheim heads for key Syria talks

UNITED PRESS International
U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim flew to Damascus Wednesday for decisive talks with Syrian leaders on his negotiations to extend the mandate of a U.N. peacekeeping force on the Golan Heights when it expires Nov. 30.

"Everything depends on conversations which I will have tonight in Damascus," Waldheim said.

Travellers' warnings issued

TWIN FALLS — The National Weather Service has issued travelers' advisories for northern, southwestern and southeastern Idaho today and tonight and the mountains of northern Utah tonight and Thursday.

An intense Pacific storm crossing the state is expected to deposit four or more inches of snow in the mountains and lesser amounts in the valleys. Gusty winds averaging 20 to 40 miles per hour in some areas are expected to create hazardous driving conditions with blowing and drifting snow.

Illegal cancer drug use given nod

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday ruled doctors may treat a cancer patient with an illegal drug in an attempt to ease the man's pain and anguish.

The order by U.S. District Judge Luther Bohannon relieved the hospital and physicians of criminal liability if they administered the drug laetrol to Ernest Ray, 34.

No Idaho leader in Ford campaign

BY BILL LAZARUS
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — No one has yet been chosen to head President Ford's campaign in Idaho, according to Vern Havenscroft, state Republican Party chairman.

But, Havenscroft said, the western states coordinator for the Ford campaign "anticipates making an announcement sometime within the next two weeks" on who will run Ford's effort in Idaho.

Although the "Ford people" have been involved in some fund raising activities in Idaho, they have "not yet solidified their committee to the point that they are ready to make announcements of officers," he said.

Havenscroft acknowledged that he has urged speedy organization of the Ford campaign committee so that it will start on an equal footing with Ronald Reagan's campaign committee which was organized Monday.

He said the party has a policy of "doing anything we can to help either of the candidates."

Fromme jury still out

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The jury in the Lynette Fromme case, apparently deadlocked on the charge she tried to assassinate President Ford, deliberated today for the third day.

A U.S. marshal carried Miss Fromme from a car into the courthouse, where she was surrounded by several marshals carrying automatic rifles and shotguns.

Fire fight shows gain

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Dying winds and cooler temperatures today gave fire fighters hope of gaining the upper hand over two major brush fires which blazed across 71,000 acres and destroyed or damaged 43 homes.

"The fires are looking good now due to lessening wind conditions," a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said. "The winds are still erratic but they have subsided somewhat."

The second major fire, on the slopes of Mt. Baldy, some 30 miles east of the Tujunga Forest in the Angeles National Forest, was only 10 to 15 percent controlled but the spokesman said prospects of gaining the upper hand were good. The Baldy blaze covered 25,000 acres.

TF prosecutor proposes felony murder doctrine

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A person who kills someone while in the act of committing a serious crime should be charged with murder, Twin Falls County prosecutor William Hofffield told state legislators Tuesday.

In a meeting with area legislators to discuss the upcoming legislature, Hofffield said Idaho should rewrite a felony murder doctrine into the Idaho code.

Under this doctrine, a person who kills someone while committing a felony crime such as grand larceny or arson can be charged with murder in addition to the felony crime.

Citing a case which occurred in Twin Falls County, Hofffield said a man who set fire to a home, ultimately causing the death of another, could not be charged with murder under present law, only arson.

Another "pet project" of his, Hofffield told legislators, was to get a law making conspiracy involving narcotics a felony charge. The present non-specific conspiracy law carries only a misdemeanor charge.

From Boise to Pocatello Tuesday, he said, he logged 17 trucks that passed him at speeds above 55 mph.

He said he is concerned about the problem with the trucks — although stressing that many of them are obeying the law. He said some of the dependents are forcing into "wolf packs" on the highway in an effort to beat the law, especially when it's cheaper under the $5 fine than to obey the law.

"When I talked to the driver he said he was passing me on the basis of a radio transmission from the truck in front of him — which is dangerous," Mapping said.

have to testify in court as to the value of the stolen vehicle.

In the Twin Falls area, there are an average of two to three car thefts a week, Hofffield told the legislators, adding he favored the change in law. "I think this'll really help the prosecution and the police," he said.

Hofffield also put in a pitch for a higher salary for the prosecutor's job and told legislators the position should be a "four-year, not two-year term."

The prosecuting attorney should be paid at the same level as the highest paid magistrate or lowest paid district judge in that area, Hofffield said.

Especially in Twin Falls County, it's a full-time job, and it should be paid that way," Hofffield said. He cited a case load of 300 cases and said so far this year 1,032 cases have been filed in the county, with an average of one felony per day.

He suggested a salary level of $20,000. Presently, the salary is $16,000.

"To get people in here willing to devote the time, (needed), it should be at that level," Hofffield said.

The four-year term is necessary for continuity. Most federal programs, for example, last three to four years, he said.

"You're just getting some programs going and then you have to run again... You get the job about halfway accomplished," Hofffield said.

Gem road chief lectured for 'delay' at 55 mph

BOISE (UPI) — State Transportation Director Darrell V. Manning is hopping mad.

While traveling at the legal maximum speed of 55 miles per hour Tuesday, he was stopped by a state patrolman between Raft River and American Falls and given a lecture on "obstructing traffic."

Manning said he was stopped after an angry trucker complained via a citizen's band radio that he was holding up traffic. He said the trucker tried three times to pass him before he could get a clear stretch of the two-lane road to do so.

When the trucker made his third attempt to pass Manning, the director gave him the 55 "signal" by opening and closing his hand twice.

Five miles down the road, just after he pulled onto a four-lane section of divided highway, Manning said, he was stopped. He was in his personal car so the officer had no idea who he was.

"I stepped out of my car and went back and asked what the problem was," Manning said. "He said he had had complaints from three truckers that I was obstructing the highway."

Manning said the officer was not discourteous to him but "I would say very stern."

"By that time, I said, 'you take me to the truckers. They were exceeding the speed limit and I will be happy to confront them.'"

"Then I proceeded to talk with him about the potential loss of highway funds. If we don't conform (to the 55 miles per hour speed limit) requirement," Manning said, "I handed him a card at that point and said, 'I know what I'm saying.'"

He said the patrolman "appeared to display surprise" when he discovered the man he had stopped was state director of transportation. He said he then showed the officer a log he had been keeping on speeders and showed him the license numbers of the truckers and the time and mileposts at which they passed him.

"After the policeman stopped me I went to the trucker with the policeman and we talked about it," Manning said. "It was pretty evident he knew he had been speeding. He had already stopped at the unloading dock."

"When he handed the trucker my card, the trucker hit his hand on his head and said, 'Oh, my hell!' Manning said.

Manning said this was not his first problem with truckers on Idaho roads. He said last weekend he was driving to Pocatello, again at the legal rate of speed, when one forced him onto the shoulder by passing him on a narrow stretch of roadway.

From Boise to Pocatello Tuesday, he said, he logged 17 trucks that passed him at speeds above 55 mph.

He said he is concerned about the problem with the trucks — although stressing that many of them are obeying the law. He said some of the dependents are forcing into "wolf packs" on the highway in an effort to beat the law, especially when it's cheaper under the $5 fine than to obey the law.

"When I talked to the driver he said he was passing me on the basis of a radio transmission from the truck in front of him — which is dangerous," Mapping said.

Expressing concern for public safety, Manning also said he intends to investigate the "use of state police to stop and detain citizens without cause when they are obeying state law."

In addition, he said, he intends to look into possible U.S. civil rights violations.

"There is another deep concern I have," Manning said. "What would happen to private citizens in the same circumstance who hadn't been keeping a record?"

State Law Enforcement Director John Bender recently ordered the state police to crack down on speeders. He expressed surprise when he heard what had happened to Manning because "we still feel that we're having our biggest problem with the truckers."

Manning was not apologetic or elated. Had Manning been a private citizen, Bender said, he probably would not have been arrested or ticketed either under the circumstances Manning described. But he said the complaint alone was cause enough to stop Manning.

Nixon sets testimony

— Did President Nixon order an assassination or covert operation that led to the death of Allende in 1973? Did he, through secret channels, promote the coup that replaced the Chilean president that fall?

— What was Nixon's role in Central Intelligence Agency support for Kurdish rebels in Iraq? According to evidence obtained by the House Select Committee on Intelligence, Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger overrode objections of the CIA and ordered the agency to secretly supply Kurdish rebels with Russian-made small arms. The move was at the request of the Shah of Iran, according to responsible reports.

— What was Nixon's role in ordering his aide Tom Charles Huston to prepare a new plan for internal security in the United States that would include burglaries, mail covers and extended electronic surveillance? Nixon presumably will also be asked whether he secretly ordered the intelligence agencies to continue this operation after J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, refused to go along with the program. Watergate testimony indicated that the Huston plan was canceled, but the Senate Intelligence Committee has evidence that its practices were continued anyway.

Sources familiar with the investigation said the committee had not agreed to limit its questions to any specific area or barred any areas of questions. They said Nixon's lawyers stated that their client believes his right to invoke executive privilege continued after he left the presidency.

"This is debatable," one source said. The matter would be worked out on a "case by case basis." If Nixon chose to refuse to answer a question on the ground of executive privilege, he said Nixon, as all citizens, has a right to refuse to answer questions on the ground that the answer may tend to incriminate him. This is guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution.

Sources said that Nixon had objected to coming to Washington on the ground that it would further injure his health. He was recently photographed playing golf with Frank E. Fitzsimmons, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and appeared to be in good health.

Chile intervention hearings slated

Washington Star

WASHINGTON — The Senate Select Committee on Intelligence has decided to go ahead with public hearings next week on U.S. intervention in Chile despite President Ford's refusal to permit administration witnesses to testify.

A committee spokesman said a panel of staff members would present the conclusions of a closed-door investigation of former President Richard M. Nixon's order to the Central Intelligence Agency to attempt to prevent the government of Marxist President Salvador Allende Gossens from taking office.

Also scheduled to testify at the hearing Dec. 4 are two former ambassadors to Chile, Ralph Duggan, who served from 1964 to 1967 and Edward Korry, who served from 1967 to 1971.

The committee said it had been informed by CIA Director William E. Colby and by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger of Ford's decision to refuse to permit administration witnesses to testify.

Committee chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, has been complaining for weeks of administration reluctance to provide witnesses for the Chile probe.

A White House spokesman said Ford directed government officials to testify only in a closed executive session.

The committee has already investigated the matter in executive session and called the public hearings as a report to the public.

The committee's report on assassinations last week related that on Sept. 15, 1970, Nixon ordered the CIA to "play a direct role in organizing a military coup d'etat" to prevent Allende from taking office as President.

Despite Nixon's order, Allende did win a plurality in a free election Sept. 4, 1973.

However, the CIA has admitted a campaign to support "democratic" forces that opposed Allende's Marxist regime. Colby has said that the effort to support democratic forces was terminated after a right-wing, military dictatorship replaced Allende.

Storm blankets Kansas

By United Press International

The second major snowstorm in a week swept across the Kansas plains early today and pressed into Texas and Oklahoma, closing schools, clogging roads and turning killer. In California brush fires were on the rampage.

The snowstorm left at least two dead. Ten more lives — eight in Indiana alone — were lost in other storms which made driving deadly in portions of the Midwest and New England through early Tuesday.

Wind-whipped snow blasted western Kansas early today, making most major highways hazardous but passable. Highway patrolmen said motorists should drive at a "snail's pace" through the five to seven inches of snow that covered portions of the state.

School children were given an extended Thanksgiving holiday, break when schools shut down in the face of the storm Tuesday. Many remained closed today.

Two persons were killed when two trucks and another vehicle collided on snow-slick U.S. 154 at Haviland, Kan.

TF fireworks (at last)

At last Twin Falls will restore its traditional fireworks display on the Fourth of July.

The City Council agreed informally Monday to spend $5,000 for a 30 to 40 minute display to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday anniversary next year.

Not too many years ago the Fourth of July fireworks display was one of the traditional highlights of summer. A large number of people gathered in and around Harmon Park for the show, including people from all over Magic Valley who drove in for the sight.

Then, for reasons never really explained, fireworks sponsors abandoned the project. This left Magic Valley's largest city without fireworks on the Fourth, while a number of smaller communities sponsored patriotic displays elsewhere. Something important was lost.

It may seem corny in this sophisticated age, but there is nothing quite like fireworks on a warm summer evening to express spirited old-fashioned patriotism.

Still, there is much more at stake than patriotism. It has something to do with the spirit of community which remains here but too often has been lost in larger cities.

Fireworks, like the summertime band concerts in the park, the county fair and parades, is one of the things which bring people together in a constructive, neighborly, community-building way.

Our hope is that these traditions will outlast the Bicentennial celebrations and remain part of life here for years to come.

Preventing FBI abuses

Christian Science Monitor

The fact that the Federal Bureau of Investigation had in the past used questionable tactics to ferret out what it thought were enemies of democracy has been known for some time. But the most recent revelations concerning the bureau's blatantly illegal attempts to discredit civil rights leader Martin Luther King can only be termed outrageous.

Far from revealing any communist influence over Dr. King's activities, the FBI's illegal wiretapping and smear campaign represented the implementing of a far greater threat to freedom of speech and action in the United States.

Similar attempts to infiltrate and sabotage other dissident groups — no matter what those groups espoused or how noble government officials' motives — can in no way be justified. They only add to a picture of official abuse that has sadly impaired public confidence in government.

Much of what happened in the past appears to stem from a personal vendetta against Dr. King by former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, carried out by lesser officials either supportive of such actions or afraid to voice any objection. There also seemed to be a lack of clear guidelines or control from the Justice Department. In one case, former Attorney General Robert Kennedy's approval for two wiretaps was used to justify a total of 16 wiretaps.

What, then, of the future? When FBI Director Clarence Kelley was nominated to succeed Mr. Hoover two years ago, he said he favored congressional oversight of FBI activities and strongly asserted that he would not be pressured to use the FBI for political ends.

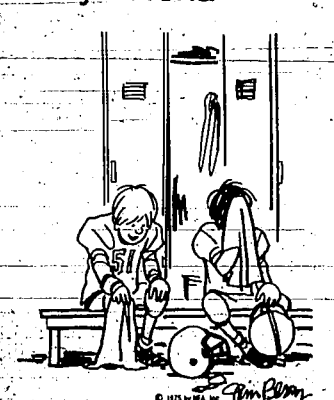

He drew strong criticism this year, however, when he said we must be willing to surrender a small measure of our liberties to preserve the great bulk of them.

A thorough airing of past FBI actions, as is now happening on Capitol Hill, is the first step. Then there must follow legislation providing for clear guidelines on permissible FBI activities and congressional oversight. Whether or not a complete housecleaning of the bureau is needed remains to be seen.

But Mr. Kelley appears to recognize that this may be necessary when he says members of Congress should choose an FBI director "in whom they have trust."

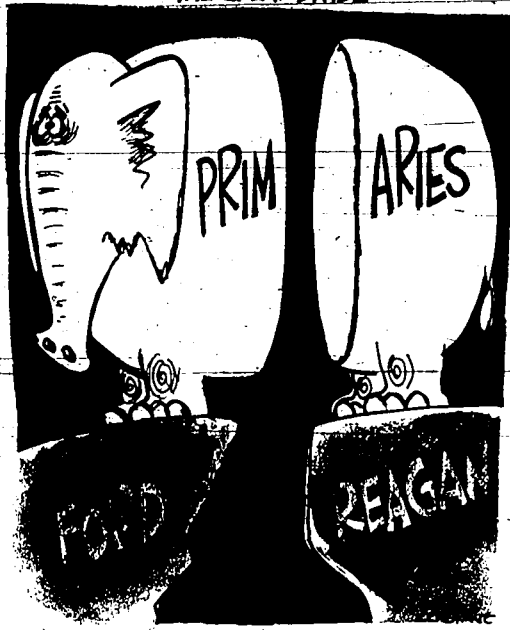

In any case, the "breach of credibility" which Mr. Kelley acknowledges in the important branch of government he runs, can only be closed by making absolutely sure that the deplorable actions of the past cannot be repeated.

Berry's World

"Wow! Well, that wraps up another season. Now, I know how George Blanda feels!"

THE GREAT DIVIDE

Why Ford fears Reagan

The questioning of Ronald Reagan at the press conference had a clear cut theme.

Is Reagan an extremist? The question was put to him indirectly by several questioners. Directly only once, when he was asked, "Mr. Reagan, aren't you out of the mainstream of American life, and do you think the people want an extremist for president?"

Reagan's answer was highly disarming, though incomplete. He said: "Look, I was governor of the State of California for eight years. My record as governor has been thoroughly explored. Pray, tell me what extremely I committed during those years?"

I say it was incomplete because it left unacknowledged the difference in the powers of the president and those of the governor. George Wallace is with fairly good reason thought of as an extremist, and when he attempted a dozen years ago physically to intervene in an attempt by a black student to matriculate at the University of Alabama, he committed an "extreme act." But he has been governor, with the circumstance exemption of a few years when he made his wife governor, ever since then and has not committed an "extreme act."

It was perhaps the single flaw in the masterful performance of Reagan that he failed to point out that the American people are dissatisfied with the performance of mainstream politics. Under mainstream politics, just to present an example, nobody really does anything about the increasing obnoxiousness of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and its manifold interferences in private arrangements.

Under mainstream politics, nobody gets around to doing anything about the housing system despised alike by its victims, and by such theorists of racial integration as Coretta King.

Under mainstream politics taxation rises, services diminish, crime increases, we lose a war, get outwitted in defense, and devour the dollar.

What is proposed for the next four years. Reagan said with no fear that he would be disputed, is four more years of the same: of the "buddy system" in Washington, of "big business and big labor and big bureaucracy." The American people, he correctly supposes, want unmistakable changes in what has been going on. Whether the Democratic opposition or the gentlemen of the media will succeed in branding such proposed departures as a call for "extremism" is a question of technique, not of substance.

But they are going to have a hard time dealing with Ronald Reagan. He is too well informed, and too nimble on his feet, to fall easily into the snare that they are so clumsily preparing for him.

He handled the first lot of these with dispatch. About New York, he said he did not have concrete positions to advance, and stuck to this line through hard questioning. Because, he said, he does not possess all the facts. Just when it appeared that he would confess to ignorance on the matter concerning which no one running for office is entitled to plead ignorance, he said that after all New York was charging $1,446 for municipal services rendered to every man and woman and child, where the national figure was $670. The simple statistic had the effect of a tactical nuclear weapon.

Just as he was accused of being evasive in the matter of the Pentagon — what Reagan said was that he could not begin to estimate the size of the appropriate budget for the Pentagon without access to information available only to the President, the Pentagon, and Jack Anderson — he was suddenly asked what his position was on the two bills the President would soon face, namely the energy bill and the common situs bill, to which question he answered swiftly, "I think he should veto both of them" giving the reasons why.

The press pleaded with him to criticize the President directly, and he counterattacked simply, but effectively, with his well-known 11th Commandment against speaking ill of any Republican. I think that position politically effective because people tend to understand the protocol built around the concept of deep loyalty. There are those of us who find it excessively difficult to criticize a position without associating it with its sponsor. But then there are those of us who are not successful in politics.

All in all it was an exhilarating performance, and the pride of American conservatives lifts in response to so graceful an advocate. Now, how they know why Ford, for so many months, has been so concerned about the prospects of facing Ronald Reagan.

Annals of America

This is how General George Washington organized the Continental Army in 1776.

"Virginia, I understand, though not from any direct authority, has resolved to draft toward the completion of her battalions; and as this mode seems to be the only one calculated to answer the end, it is to be hoped she will be able to furnish her full complement of fifteen, including the state regiment. What plan Maryland has fallen upon, or may adopt, to fill her battalions I know not, but as the powers of government are with her in full vigor, and the abilities of the state entirely adequate, I think her original quota ought to be depended upon. Delaware must, undoubtedly, contribute one battalion; no change having happened since that portion was assigned her sufficient to afford a plea for reducing it. In behalf of Pennsylvania, much may be said; the exalted state of her regiments; loss of her capital, and intestine divisions, ever destructive to the energy of government, may perhaps incapacitate her from completing her thirteen regiments now on foot. I suppose the number should be, for the present, diminished to eight, and the state should exert herself to fill them in the first place. When this shall be accomplished, if her resources appear equal to any further efforts, she may proceed to raising the remaining five. Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire are fully competent to the quotas respectively required of them, and no abatement seems necessary with respect to either."

Plea bargaining backed

Editor, Times-News:

I am writing this letter to correct what I believe to be an incomplete and inaccurate news item that appeared in last Sunday's edition of the Times-News. I refer to the article on plea bargaining in Jerome County.

I am most concerned that the exchange of remarks quoted out of context by your reporter might be misunderstood and lead to a totally false impression of the true facts.

In the first place, your reporter overheard a part of a conversation that occurred after we agreed to wait for the State's complaining witnesses to appear for the hearing which had commenced, but recessed, to allow time for the witnesses to come from Rupert. When the witnesses arrived, I met with the prosecutor, Mr. Eugene Fredericksen, and his witnesses and with my client and his parents.

No one else was present at these meetings. They were private, not public. The remarks made in the hall outside the courtroom related to these private discussions and meetings and could only be understood by reference to them.

Previous to this date I had discussed this case with the prosecutor, Gene Fredericksen in person in Jerome. At these discussions we reviewed the facts and the applicable legal principles. It should be apparent that any case involving the charges of assault and kidnapping made by a wife against her husband could have serious factual and legal problems. As every policeman knows, with some married couples violence is a way of life.

The legal relationship itself may deny the kidnapping. Each case must be determined on its own facts and under the applicable law. The last of the personal discussions I had with Mr. Fredericksen occurred just the day before the preliminary hearing in Jerome and the remarks made in the courthouse were a continuation of that discussion.

The divorce hearing on the issue of child custody and support has been continued on the defendant's motion for the obvious reason that the future ability of the husband to pay child support cannot be determined until the Court knows how he is to be restricted by the decision of the criminal case.

In my opinion any attorney worth his salt should attempt to bargain for a plea on behalf of his client. After his investigation of the case he should know the facts and be able to predict with reasonable accuracy what a jury will do. The prosecutor is in the same position, but has the additional duty to consider the most judicious expenditure of public funds and the risks inherent in any trial.

Plea bargaining in a criminal case is not any different than working out a settlement between attorneys in a civil case. If the prosecutor was required to try every criminal case on his docket I believe we would need two extra criminal prosecutors in every county with the same number of public defenders and double the number of judges.

The number and length of these criminal trials would multiply the chances for error and reversal by the Supreme Court. The taxpayer would be the loser as the cost would run into many thousands of dollars for each county.

Many criminal jury trials have a tendency to end up as public spectacles. Plea bargaining on the better answer when it is done after a careful analysis of the facts and the law. Trials should be held only when the attorneys cannot agree on an appropriate plea.

We didn't agree in Jerome, but the background of our efforts certainly contradicts the notion of the law and justice he damned tone of the news article.

T-N invites reader letters

Forum letters must be concerned with topics of general interest and must be of a reasonable length.

The editors of the Times-News reserve the right to refuse publication if, in their opinion, the subject matter is of a libelous nature, is not in good taste or is repetitious and has previously been thoroughly covered by the forum.

All letters must bear the signature and address of the writer. The name of the writer will appear when published unless there is a personal request that it be withheld and the reason for such a request. This request will then be considered by the editors and it will either be granted or the letter will be returned to the writer.

No changes

Editor, Times-News:

I am 13 years old. I feel that we, the people of the United States, are letting the United States government, or Congress, get away with something far more important than what we, the people, realize.

This is the United States, the land of the free and home of the brave, but now they are trying to change our constitution and I understand they have already made up a new one to be presented for the Bicentennial.

They have already tried to take some parts out, like "Capital Punishment," and add new parts like "Gun Control." But this constitution is the backbone of what this country was made of and has kept us free. I believe in the constitution, in its original form and I don't believe we, the people of the United States, should let anyone change it no matter who they are.

I believe if they don't like the way we run our country, then they can go live someplace else.

Resolution hit

Editor, Times-News:

The Atlantic Union Resolution was passed in the Senate during the last Congress (Senator Frank Church has been a supporter) and barely failed (197-210) in the House of Representatives.

It is now once again under consideration and already has more than 100 sponsors in the House. It passed the Atlantic Union Resolution would permit a delegation of eighteen American citizens to meet with representatives of foreign governments to (a) declare that the goal of the American people is to surrender the sovereignty of the United States to a central internationalist authority; (b) set a timetable for various states of that surrender; and (c) agree on a formal written warrant granting the power to perform acts that would hasten the process. Nelson Rockefeller, as President of the Senate, would choose six of those eighteen Americans.

Rockefeller has since 1939 been an open supporter and financial backer of this effort to abolish the sovereignty of the United States.

The proposed Atlantic Union would join our country and the socialist-dominated European Economic Community, and would have the power lawfully to (1) impose on us a common citizenship with Europeans; (2) tax our citizens directly; (3) make and enforce all laws; (4) coin and borrow money; (5) grant a monopoly on all armed forces; and (6) admit new member states including the communists.

The time is now to write our Senators and Congressmen and urge them to vote against H.R. 4-605 which would destroy our sovereignty under the Constitution.

Lisbon comandandos crush leftist revolt remnant

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Progovernment comandandos overwhelmed a rebel police regiment in a fierce battle behind the presidential palace today, wiping out one of the last remnants of a leftist revolt that brought the country to the brink of civil war.

Police at the scene said one military policeman and two comandandos were killed in the fighting. They said there were wounded on both sides, but the number was not known.

The comandandos converged on the military police compound at the rear of the palace complex from two sides and crashed through its main gate with an armored car, firing automatic rifles and machineguns.

The military policemen — backed by leftist civilians — put up a brief fight before surrendering to the waves of comandandos pouring through the wreckage of the front gate.

"Everything went up in smoke," said one military policeman. "Where was everyone who was supposed to support (us)? We didn't stand a chance. All we had were rifles and grenades against their armored cars."

A government statement said the comandandos attacked after the military policemen refused to accept an ultimatum to surrender by 8 a.m. (2 a.m. EST).

"A force of comandandos advanced to persuade them (to change their minds) and was met by gunfire," the statement said.

Morocco stakes new territorial claims

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — Morocco, assured of taking over the mineral-rich Spanish Sahara, has now staked out a claim to Spain's only remaining enclaves on Morocco's coast — Ceuta and Melilla.

Morocco's King Hassan met with reporters Tuesday and shrugged off Algerian opposition to the Nov. 14 agreement under which Madrid agreed to hand the Spanish Sahara over to Morocco and Mauritania.

Slipping mineral water and puffing filter-tipped cigarettes, Hassan said he would not be surprised if Algerian President Houari Boumedienne started a war over the Sahara.

But he did not appear worried and said Moroccan forces were not sure the Algerian leader enjoyed any popular support.

Hassan said his regime will step up its drive to control Ceuta and Melilla on Morocco's northern coast as soon as Spain gains control over British-held Gibraltar across the seven-mile strait guarding the western entrance to the Mediterranean.

"The day Spain has Gibraltar, Morocco will necessarily have Ceuta and Melilla for no power will be able to allow Spain both locks on the same straits," he said.

Spanish opposition raps pardon as 'inadequate'

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Spain's largest outlawed opposition party today denounced as inadequate the limited pardon of criminal and political prisoners announced by King Juan Carlos I in the first goodwill gesture of his reign.

The decree Tuesday was Juan Carlos' first formal attempt to win popular support at home and abroad. It came only two days before foreign chiefs of state were to gather for festivities celebrating his ascent to the throne.

"This measure falls very, very far short of what we were demanding," the Socialist Workers party said. "What the Spanish opposition wants is a general amnesty for all political crimes."

"We reject that this is proof that things are changing in Spain, because there have been many similar, limited pardons in the past 12 years," a party statement said. "We don't recognize that opposing the dictatorship was a crime."

The smaller Christian Democratic party welcomed the pardon as a "positive step" but said, "We will have to wait for other ones along the same line."

Under the decree, all eligible prisoners will have three years slashed from their terms and the remaining years will be reduced according to a graduated scale. All those who had already served 20 years were ordered released.

But the decree ruled out the release of any of the 500 persons convicted under the nation's two-month-old antiterrorist law, passed mainly to deal with Basque separatists and outlawed political groups.

UN chief issues appeal

BEIRUT (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim appealed today "in the interest of world peace" for an end to the fierce religious warfare that has racked Lebanon for seven months.

Heavy street fighting in the capital diminished during the night with the appearance of 300 army comandandos ordered by the government to "light the gunmen in their own way."

Waldheim flew to Beirut today for a brief visit en route to Damascus, where he will discuss Syrian and Israeli views on extending the U.N. peacekeeping mandate in the Golan Heights.

Waldheim appealed "to the people and leaders of Lebanon to maintain the unity of the country, not only in the interests of Lebanon, but in the interests of the Middle East region and in the interests of world peace."

However, Waldheim said he considered Lebanon's problem to be the internal matter of a U.N. member state. He said "outside interference" in Lebanon should be avoided.

Interior Minister Camille Chamoun announced 300 army comandandos aiding Beirut's security forces had been reorganized into a special unit to combat snipers, kidnappers and street gangs. Political sources said the comandandos were "organized into groups backed by armored cars, and given orders to protect the commercial districts by going in and fighting cease-fire violators in their own way."

Police said at least 6 persons were killed and about 15 wounded today in heavy gunfire exchanges that ripped the city's downtown commercial sector and eastern suburbs.

The new figures raised the overall casualty toll since the fighting erupted in April to more than 4,200 dead and nearly 9,000 wounded.

Premier Rashid Karami has charged that Chamoun himself contributed to the security breakdown by allowing his own Christian militia to partake in the fighting.

In response, Chamoun said security forces were under orders to fire at his militia "as freely as anyone else" if they violate the current cease-fire — the 13th in 10 weeks.

Karami told a meeting of parliament that both Christians and Muslims must moderate their positions and begin talks in earnest to draft a reform program to put an end to Lebanon's sectarian strife.

War crimes trial opens

DUESSELDORF, West Germany (UPI) — A former New York City housewife went on trial today for allegedly participating in the murder of 250,000 Jews in a Nazi concentration camp during World War II.

Mrs. Hermine Braunsteiner Ryan and 12 other persons were charged with murder and other violent crimes against Jewish prisoners in a concentration camp at Maidanek, Poland, between 1941 and 1944.

The judge said a 14th defendant failed to appear for the trial because he was taking a psychiatric examination.

Laotian minister's son flees Commies

NONG KHAI, Thailand (UPI) — The son of Laotian Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma swam the rain-swollen Mekong River to Thailand today to escape deportation to the Communist Pathet Lao capital of Vientiane for nondesertion.

Border guards captured Prince Panya Souvanna Phouma about an hour before dawn at the border town of Tha Ho shortly after the prince emerged from the river.

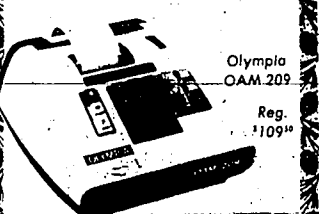

Police in this border city said he identified himself and asked for asylum.

He told police he had left Laos because the Pathet Lao were about to send him to the Communist headquarters near the North Vietnamese border, and because of the "increasingly insecure situation in Laos."

According to police, Panya, formerly the head of Laos' government-operated national airline, said he swam the swiftly moving river about an hour, supported by a large piece of plastic foam inserted in a bag wrapped around his body.

The Thailand-Laos border has been closed since last week, when a Thai river patrol boat ran aground on an island near Tha Ho following a gun battle with Pathet Lao troops on the Laotian shore.

Shelley chief, one officer convicted of trespassing

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The Shelley police chief and one of his officers were convicted in magistrate court on charges of trespassing to hunt on a Tondoy area ranch and littering on Highway 28. A second officer forfeited bond.

Shelley Chief C. Reed Hayes, and Tony Young, senior patrolman, were fined $50 each for trespassing and $25 for littering plus $7.50 court costs in the trial Monday, before Magistrate William Puette.

Mont Mechem, police sergeant, forfeited a $10 bond Nov. 20 on the same charge.

All three pleaded innocent by telephone Nov. 18 from Shelley.

The complaints signed by Fred Snook Jr., Lemhi County Prosecuting attorney, alleged the three policemen Nov. 8 went onto the ranch of Steve Mahaffey at Tondoy by a backroad and shot three deer in an area posted "No Hunting" and then left the entrails on State Highway 28.

During the trial Monday, Hayes and Young testified in their own behalfs with Mechem a defense witness.

Testifying for the state were Mahaffey, Tom McConahy, Robert Patton, Ken Patton, Ronald Alder, and Robert Knight, all Mahaffey Ranch employees, and Ken Nielsen, district game manager.

The ranch hands testified they saw the officers hunting on the ranch and they saw them dump the entrails along the highway.

The state called as rebuttal witnesses Dale Smith, Nielsen and Alder.

Officer Nielsen testified to finding fresh blood on a gate on which a "No Trespassing" sign was posted and that there were two separate game drag trails leading from 30 yards inside the fence to the fence at a distance of 30 yards from the "no hunting" sign.

The site was one half mile north from the main Mahaffey Ranch buildings.

Judge Puette stayed execution of the fine for 30 days, pending appeal of the case. He said the officers indicated they plan to appeal.

Church wants to eliminate overseas 'tax incentives'

PORTLAND (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, Idaho, wants to eliminate the tax incentives that he said make it profitable for U.S. corporations to invest overseas, and to bring back to this country American jobs that were exported.

The tax system is set up so that it's more profitable now to make profits abroad than at home, Church told the Multinational Company Labor Council Monday night.

But the profits don't come back to American working people whose jobs have been lost when their plants were shut down.

Church said for the 35 years after World War II the big corporations invested billions in modern manufacturing plants throughout the world.

"You can't look at the statistics of that enormous operation — and notice that the investments are concentrated in little countries where labor is cheap, governments can be easily 'fixed' and the products are shipped back to the United States — and not recognize that jobs have been exported," he said.

Church also contended that "detente" only began after U.S. banks and industries lined up lucrative contracts to do business in the Soviet Union.

"I don't want this detente policy to be turned into a foreign aid program in disguise to develop the Soviet Union," he said.

Church also said that it has been difficult to break up the power of large oil companies.

"The antitrust laws haven't worked, and they won't work. It's just too complicated to prove violations of antitrust laws in court," he said.

Church said that while he hoped the recession has been turned around "the unemployment rate is very high and it's going up again. Our rate of recovery is far from satisfactory."

Gem road conditions listed

BOISE (UPI) — Ice and broken snow floor covered most of Idaho's major roads today and the chains were advised to "safe travel" at higher altitudes and over mountain passes.

By road, this was the report from the state departments of highways and law enforcement:

U.S. 95 — Marsing to Oregon line, wet, snowing; Weiser to Mesa hill, snow floor, snowing; New Meadows, broken snow floor; Grangeville to Moscow, broken snow floor, snowing; Mica hill, snow floor; Coeur d'Alene to Bonners Ferry, snow floor, four inches new snow, chains advised.

State Highway 55 — Banks Canyon to Cascade, snow floor, four inches new snow; McCain to New Meadows, broken snow floor, two inches new snow.

Interstate 90, U.S. 109 — Fourth of July Canyon, Wallace, Lookout Pass, snow floor, snowing; Lookout Pass has four inches new snow and chains are advised.

U.S. 12 — Orofino to Kootenai, broken snow floor, snowing, chains advised.

U.S. 20 — West Yellowstone, broken snow floor.

U.S. 30N — McCammon to Lava Hot Springs, wet, snowing; Montpelier to Wyoming line, icy.

Assistance sought

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General Wayne L. Kidwell has asked the Securities and Exchange Commission to assist his investigation of the Endowment Fund Investment Board, the Idaho Statesman said today.

The newspaper said both Regional SEC Administrator Jack Bookey, Seattle, and Kidwell have confirmed plans to meet with Kidwell and his staff Monday and Tuesday to discuss the request.

The investment board is responsible for administering more than $100 million in school endowment funds. Earlier this year, Kidwell issued a legal opinion that it is unlawful for members of the board to profit personally from the investments.

Kidwell said he is not asking the SEC to take over the investigation but simply to provide technical assistance in the complex securities matters.

Battle brews over regulation

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — A court battle is shaping up between the Environmental Protection Agency and Bunker Hill Co. over a sulfur dioxide regulation issued by the federal agency.

The regulation requires Bunker Hill to purchase $250,000 worth of new equipment with which to control 82 per cent of all sulfur dioxide emissions from the company's Kellogg smelters.

Bunker Hill said it would fight the regulation in Federal Appeals Court because 82 per cent control is not feasible with current technology.

Grant awarded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Economic Development Administration has awarded North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene an $800,000 grant, the office of Sen. James A. McClure said Tuesday.

The federal funds will be used to help construct a vocational education center to stimulate long-range growth in northern Idaho. The college will provide the remainder of the money needed to complete the $2,550,000 project.

The college will build larger facilities for electro-mechanical and millwright courses. Space will be provided for basic education classes, testing programs, job counseling and health occupation courses — including practical nursing.

Officials anticipate an enrollment of 450 day students and 200 evening students.

Bias suit filed by Gem teen

BOISE (UPI) — A 17-year-old Coeur d'Alene girl has accused the State Department of Health and Welfare of discriminating against unwed mothers under the age of 18.

In a class-action suit filed in federal court, "Jane Doe" said unwed mothers under that age receive only half the welfare benefits received by married mothers. She said that is unconstitutional.

The girl, who gave birth to an illegitimate son this year, said she received Aid to Families with Dependent Children for her child only. But, she said, married mothers under 18 and all mothers older than 18 receiving AFDC also get subsidies for themselves.

She said H&W rules in that regard are arbitrary and violate the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution. She asks for preliminary and permanent injunctions against the department.

In a document filed with the complaint, H&W hearing officer Richard C. Russell held that Ms. Doe was supported by her parents and was not needy.

Caldwell dairy co-op faces restraint charge

CALDWELL (UPI) — Attorney General Wayne L. Kidwell accused a Caldwell-based dairy cooperative Tuesday of unreasonable and unlawful restraint of trade.

In a complaint filed in Third District Court under Idaho's anti-trust law, Kidwell asked that contracts tying farmers to the Dairyman's Creamery Association, Inc., be voided and that the association be restrained from signing such future contracts.

He charged that the contracts, which have provisions for liquidated damages, are so written as to discourage farmers from terminating them and seeking other markets. He said this "tends to create a monopoly."

"This is the type of thing that causes prices to go up," Kidwell said, in an interview after the complaint was filed.

He said the lawsuit is an outgrowth of complaints his office received about the disparity between the prices paid the dairy farmers for the milk and the prices charged the consumers in the stores.

Through this suit, he said, his office hopes to get other cooperatives in the state to discontinue such contractual prices so dairy farmers will have a little more freedom in seeking their markets.

Kidwell's complaint alleges the association requires its producer-members to sign contracts which extract a three-year profit-sharing penalty as "liquidated damages" for selling dairy products to any other market.

He said a "Grade A" membership in the association prohibits the member from engaging in any dairy farming in competition with the association for a three-year period after he terminates his membership.

In addition, Kidwell said, Grade A members must sign a rider that extracts a penalty of 20 per cent of the gross proceeds from the sale of all milk which they sell in violation of the agreement if they neglect or refuse to deliver milk or dairy products as the association designates.

These provisions, he said, "tend to create a monopoly" and stifle competition.

Scientists battle pork stress disease

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Scientists at the University of Missouri are trying to wipe out a disease that kills more than $250 million worth of pigs in the United States each year and 70 per cent of the humans who catch it.

The disease is called malignant hyperthermia or porcine stress syndrome. It causes body temperatures to go as high as 113 degrees in a man or 118 degrees in a pig, muscles to grow rigid as in rigor mortis and blood acidity to drop from a normal 7.4 to below 6.8.

Dr. Charles H. Williams, a U-MC biochemist, said

scientists have traced the syndrome to a genetic defect in an enzyme which causes an excess amount of a hormone called norepinephrine. The excess amount of the hormone triggers the muscle stress and higher body temperature.

Williams said he hopes to identify the specific enzyme deficiency that causes the disease in two or three years. Williams said he then wants to develop a simple and reliable test to detect the disease on farms so that pigs who carry the genetic defect could be eliminated from breeding stock.

"By eliminating genetic carriers of the porcine stress syndrome, we will be able to reduce losses now occurring on swine farms," he said. Williams said those losses amount to thousands of pigs each year.

Williams said the action of the syndrome in humans usually is triggered by giving the patient an anesthetic for routine surgical or dental procedures.

Predator ruling rehearing denied

CHEYENNE (UPI) — The U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals has refused to rehear a case in which it decided against increased predator controls.

In a decision handed down

Oct. 29, the court supported a federal ban against the "intentional" transportation of three predator poisons used by sheepmen to kill coyotes.

The court held that U.S. District Court Judge Ewing T. Kerr erred in removing a federally-imposed ban on the poisons. The appeals court Monday also refused to allow Utah, South Dakota and New Mexico to intervene.

The three judges last month said the Environmental Protection Agency was not required to issue an environmental impact statement. Kerr had issued an injunction against enforcement of the ban until a statement was issued.

A review of the intermediate appeals court decision could still be sought before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The state had kept 1000 predator poison after Kerr's ruling was issued but the appeals court then reversed his decision, and the EPA sought to confiscate the poisons.

Gov. Ed Herschler said, however, at the Wyoming Woolgrowers Convention last Friday that the EPA had backed off from confiscating the imported poison until the appeals court ruled on the motion for a rehearing.

No beef limits

PORTLAND (UPI) — A proposed federal marketing limit production, John Huston, Chicago, a vice president of the National Livestock & Meat Board, said Monday.

Huston met Monday with

He said the Beef Research and Information Act, which has been passed by the House and is before the Senate, would enable the secretary of agriculture to propose a beef marketing order. Such an order would have to be approved by a two-thirds vote of the nation's beef producers.

Drive ends

VALE, Ore. (UPI) — A lack of funds has halted the largest roundup of wild horses since the passage of the 1971 Wild and Free-Roaming Burro Act. Bureau of Land Management officials announced Monday.

George R. Gurr, Vale District Manager for the BLM, said 25 wild horses were gathered from the rugged Owyhee River Breaks 30 miles south of Vale. The goal was to round up 250 horses.

Gurr said the operation was the largest and most efficient roundup since 1971.

India eyes record cut for grains

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — India can hope for a record grain harvest of 114 million tons, mostly wheat, in the 1975-76 crop year, A.P. Shinde, minister of agriculture and irrigation, said today.

"On the whole our country is in a very comfortable position as far as food is concerned," Shinde said in a speech at Bangalore, a city in southern India.

He also said the yield of cash crops such as sugar, cotton and oil seeds is likely to be good during the current crop year.

Nevertheless, the food ministry expects to import about five million tons of wheat during the current crop year, most of it from the United States.

India plans to pay cash on the open market for the imported wheat. The imported grain will be used to build up reserve stocks, which the food ministry wants to maintain at 12 million tons.

India's best previous grain crop was a 108 million-ton harvest in the 1970-71 crop year. In the three years that followed, the yield fluctuated around 104-105 million tons due to drought.

Packers mum on charge

STERLING, Colo. (UPI) — Officials of a meat-packing company charged by the federal government with fraud say they will have no comment on the accusations until their attorneys advise them.

"We have turned the matter over to our lawyers and won't comment until they advise us," Calvin Humphrey, manager of Sterling Colorado Beef Co., said Monday.

"Naturally, we like to think we have done everything right," he said. "But the government doesn't seem to think so, and right now they're in the driver's seat."

Other defendants in the suit, filed by the USDA last week, were Leback Feed Yards, Atwood, Colo.; feedlot owners John and Donald Leback, and Ceres Land Co., a custom feedlot in Sterling.

The USDA specifically accused Sterling of allowing the other defendants to take part in the ownership and management of the company at the same time they were engaged in other livestock marketing and feeding operations.

The department claimed Sterling paid higher prices for beef bought from its shareholders than from non-stockholders and then altered company records "to defraud and deceive" both groups of sellers.

The Lebacks were charged with receiving $17,600 in commissions for selling livestock, even though the USDA said they "rendered no selling services" and had a contract stipulating that such services would be provided free of charge.

Sterling also was accused of giving its president, E.E. Sonnenberg, $80,000 in preferential payments "at the expense of other shareholders and customers."

Rustling increases

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association says horse stealing has increased throughout Texas this year.

Cullen Robinson, a special Texas Ranger assigned to the association, said 12 horses are stolen each week in the Dallas-Fort Worth area alone.

Robinson said the horses are either taken out of the state and sold or shipped to packing plants and turned into animal food. The penalty for horse stealing is two to 10 years in prison.

Cattle rustling has declined, he said, because of stabilized beef prices.

Thanksgiving

This is the time for feasting with family and friends and for offering thanks for our many blessings. As we approach our Bicentennial year, let us offer thanks for the blessings of freedom. And let us also remember our forefathers who celebrated Thanksgiving in a new and undeveloped land more than 350 years ago. They established the tradition we continue to follow today.

The staff of IB & T would like to extend its best wishes to you. We hope you enjoy your Thanksgiving Holiday.

Kellogg mine fights EPA

KELOGG, Idaho (UPI) — Bunker Hill Mining Co. served notice today it will appeal a federal sulfur oxide emission regulation imposed upon the firm and its lead-silver smelter. The Environmental Protection Agency regulation requires the company to install permanent pollution abatement equipment capable of trapping and controlling 82 per cent of all sulfur emissions. Bunker Hill president James Halley said today the regulation is "impossible to comply with" using present-day technology. He said because it can't be done, the wholly-owned subsidiary of Gulf Resources and Chemical Co., Houston, Tex., would appeal the ruling to the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

Halley said Bunker Hill is currently using the best equipment available and has an emission recovery rate of 72 per cent. He said the EPA apparently has some "new" experimental equipment in mind that would trap more emissions than the current equipment. "I want to make it clear, however, that we don't believe we should be required to install experimental installations — we are not a privately financed research arm of the EPA," Halley added. The State of Idaho has accepted the 72 per cent recovery but the new EPA regulation overrides the state. Both the State and the EPA have called for an average of 96 per cent level of control by mid-1977.

Both regulations call for the balance of the required emission control to be attained by supplemental methods such as shutting the smelter down during poor wind conditions.

Computer ends life

PLANTATION, Fla. (UPI) — A computer has decided Herman Cosman is dead and refuses to pay for his cancer treatments through Medicare. The former New York electrician retired three years ago and moved to a condominium apartment in Plantation with his wife, Anne. He suffers from cancer of the bladder. He said until last April Medicare was paying his treatment bills. Then, he learned, a computer in Baltimore decided he was dead. Since then, he has received two printed form cards asking for details of his demise. Cosman said he wrote back and said, "I'm sorry to inconvenience you, but I'm still alive." The computer responded with another printed form inquiring about the circumstances of his death. Bills for his treatment have been returned by Medicare.

with the notation, "Expenses incurred after entitlement ended." Cosman said his Medicare premiums are still being deducted from his Social Security check but he is still alive in that computer.

Road to Grandma's house snowy

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area: Snow decreasing tonight. Partly cloudy and cooler with a chance of a few snow flurries Thanksgiving Day. Strong gusty, southerly winds, diminishing tonight, and Thursday. Turning colder tonight and Thursday. Highs in the 30s, Thursdays with overnight lows 20 to 25. The outlook for Friday, cooler with a chance of showers.

Hailey, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River Valley: Snow with possible locally heavy accumulations in the mountain areas. Gusty southerly winds between 20 and 40 miles per hour, causing areas of blowing and drifting snow and areas of hazardous driving. Decreasing clouds with a few snow flurries tonight and Thanksgiving. Highs Thursday 25 to 30. Overnight lows in the teens.

Outlook for Friday: partly cloudy and cool. Synopsis: An intense Pacific storm started its way through northern Idaho early this morning and is expected to reach southeastern Idaho tonight. Traveler's advisories have been issued for most of Idaho today and for northern Utah late today and tonight. Locally heavy accumulations of four inches or more of snow in mountain areas are expected with some higher gusts. This will make driving hazardous in mountain passes, but conditions should improve by Thanksgiving.

But there have been no violations that have been reported that have not been brought to the attention of the Soviet Union. Critics of the current, stalemate SALT negotiations claim the Soviets are increasing their nuclear arsenals under cover of the earlier agreements and charge Kissinger has concealed this so as not to disrupt the current talks. The magazine's editorial called Kissinger "the most skilled practitioner of the art of not telling the truth without actually lying since Robert Strange McNamara left the Pentagon."

Kissinger denies part in Soviet cover-up

DETROIT (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Tuesday denied he and President Ford covered up Soviet cheating on nuclear arms limitation agreements. He called such accusations "a disgrace."

Kissinger also said there was a "possibility" he or Ford might meet with Leonid I. Brezhnev or another Soviet leader next month in an effort to break the deadlock in phase two Strategic Arms Limitation negotiations.

At a news conference, Kissinger responded angrily to the cover-up allegation published in the current issue of Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine, which said he and Ford followed "a deliberate policy of secrecy and deception" of concealing Soviet violations of previous SALT agreements.

"I think it is a disgrace when the President and secretary of state can be accused of deliberately deceiving the American public with respect to alleged violations of our major adversary," Kissinger said.

"But there have been no violations that have been reported that have not been brought to the attention of the Soviet Union."

"But it certainly will do so on the basis of violations of the SALT agreement," he said.

Tall tales abound on N.J. Turnpike

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — State Police Sgt. Frank Mara was patrolling the New Jersey Turnpike one day when he saw two cars speeding down the toll road at close to 90 mph. With his siren screaming, Mara gave a chase and forced one of the cars to pull over. "You were going over the speed limit, sir," the trooper told a young man behind the wheel. "But I was trying to catch up with my brother," the driver replied. "His speedometer is broken and he doesn't know it." The man is one of about 8,000 drivers who are given summonses by the state police on New Jersey highways every week and have to explain why they violated the law. Troopers said few of the reasons given for speeding are credible. "They come up with all kinds of excuses," said one trooper. "I do anything to get off the hook." Some of the excuses speeders gave recently: "I'm going to a doctor. My son has just swallowed a fish hook." "My brother is dying in North Carolina." "A bulldozer is falling off a flatbed ahead and I was trying to get to the driver." "I built this car myself and I thought I can do whatever I want with it." "I'm going to the bank before they close." Trooper John Shurts stopped a car going over 70 mph. After examining the driver's license and insurance papers, Shurts asked why he was speeding. "I'm on vacation," the middle-aged man behind the wheel blurted out. There is one excuse most often used on Sundays which troopers say sometimes make them reluctant to give out a summons — burying to church in time for service. Trooper Fred Wissing encountered another frequently quoted excuse when he stopped a man on the turnpike. He was told that the speeder was rushing to a service area men's room. "I followed him and waited for 10 minutes outside while he was in the restaurant," Wissing said. When the man emerged, he was handed a summons. "He felt it was unfair, but that's what he got for speeding," the trooper said. Trooper Raymond Walter towers he chased a speeding car into a service station, and when he questioned the woman driver, she explained: "Sorry, officer, but I had to hurry because I'm running out of gas."

"I think it is an unworthy editorial," Kissinger said. He conceded Moscow may be building up its nuclear arsenal.

Drug charge false

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford authorized federal narcotics agents to investigate a rumor that later proved false that his son, Jack, had purchased cocaine from a drug dealer in Salt Lake City last year. The White House confirmed Tuesday. The investigation showed that Jack Ford was not in Salt Lake City at the time of the alleged purchase and the probe was closed, the spokesmen said. William Greener, deputy White House press secretary, said the President told H. Stuart Knight, head of the Secret Service, to allow the Drug Enforcement Administration to conduct the investigation earlier this year. First word of the investigation came Tuesday from syndicated columnist Jack Anderson's ALPS's Coast Starling America. "According to Anderson, the DEA was 'lipped off' that young Ford, one of the President's three sons, 'had been seen buying cocaine from a known dealer in Salt Lake City.' Anderson said the tip was brought to Ford's attention. Greener said Ford received the information and told Knight to proceed with the investigation and the White House would not interfere in any way. Anderson said federal narcotics agents then asked their informant for more details. The informant told the DEA that the alleged purchase occurred in the late summer of 1974, just after Ford was sworn in as President. Anderson said the Secret Service established that young Ford wasn't even in Salt Lake City at that time and "other details failed to check out. Therefore the investigation was quietly closed."

U.S. auto sales up

DETROIT (UPI) — The four U.S. automakers Tuesday reported mid-November sales shot up 24 per cent over a year ago when a sharp plunge led to the idling of close to 300,000 workers just before Thanksgiving. With all four companies sailing in the boost, sales hit 252,942 cars for the fifth consecutive period in which sales topped a year-ago level. American Motors reported a 41 per cent jump, General Motors 36 per cent, Chrysler 30 per cent and Ford 28 per cent. But even with the strengthening sales since the introduction of the 1976 models in October, industry executives and analysts said it would be some time before the industry has fully recovered from its two-year slump — the longest and deepest since the Great Depression. "Nobody is claiming any big breakthroughs, just more of the hard increases of the past few months," one analyst said. "Nobody expects to reach the 1972 and 1973 record levels for at least another two years." The strong Nov. 11-20 sales were off 13 per cent from 1974, just after the start of the Arab oil embargo that triggered the slump, and 18 per cent below the record for the period in 1971. But five consecutive periods with sales topping the year-ago levels has prompted both Ford and GM to add cars to their production plans. All the companies have been trying to match their production schedules to actual sales and avoid the huge backlog that forced the shutdowns last year. In the Thanksgiving week last year, seven of the industry's 57 cars and truck plants were closed, a figure that rose to 10 in the week after Thanksgiving.

Policemen convicted

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — The sheriff's police chief and one of his officers were convicted in magistrate court on charges of trespassing to hunt on a Tandy area ranch and littering on Highway 28. A second officer forfeited bond. Sheriff Chief C. Reed Hayes, and Tony Young, senior patrolman, were fined $50 each for trespassing and $25 for littering plus $750 court costs in the trial Monday before Magistrate William Pugh. Mont Mecham, police sergeant, forfeited a $50 bond Nov. 20 on the same charge. All three pleaded innocent by telephone Nov. 17 from Shelley. The complaints signed by Fred Snook Jr., Lemhi County Prosecuting attorney, alleged the three policemen Nov. 8 went onto the ranch of Steve Mahaffey at Tandy by a backroad and shot three deer in an area posted "No Hunting," and then left the entrails on State Highway 28. During the trial Monday, Hayes and Young testified in their own behalfs with Mecham a defense witness. Testifying for the state were Mahaffey, Tom McConaughy, Robert Patton, Ken Patton, Ronald Alder, and Robert Knight, all Mahaffey Ranch employees, and Ken Nielsen, district game manager. The ranch hands testified they saw the officers hunting on the ranch and they saw them dump the entrails along the highway. The state called as rebuttal witnesses Dale Smith, Nielsen and Alder.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a masseur, and he has his own parlor. Our problem is the growing number of women who find it impossible to come in for massages during Walter's regular working hours. To accommodate them, he stays evenings, which means Walter and his customer are there all alone.

One woman used to come in three times a week—always after hours—so I started going down there when she did, and she finally quit coming in for massages.

Walter became upset and said he doesn't want me coming down to his parlor at all because the word is getting around that he has a jealous wife—which is hurting his business. I say he does well enough during the day hours and doesn't need to work evenings, too. Also, I've never known him to work overtime on a man or an elderly or obese woman—only young, good-looking ones.

Have I a right to be suspicious?

WALTER'S WIFE

Rub goes wrong way

DEAR WIFE: Yes. But you can't be absolutely sure until you catch Walter rubbing one of his customers the wrong way.

DEAR ABBY: I am stationed in Seoul, Korea, and read your column in the Pacific Star and Stripes. My wife is back in the States. We've been married two years, but have spent only 10 months together because of my Army training and stationing in Korea.

My wife used to smoke before we were married, but I asked her to quit and she did. She wrote to tell me she has started smoking again. She says it "relaxes" her and keeps her weight down. "Only half a pack a day," she claims, but I am very much upset because I hate that habit and don't want her to smoke at all. As her husband, do I have the right to demand that she quit? My mother used to smoke over three packs a day, and you should have seen her when she got up in the morning. I don't want that to happen to my wife.

What should I do?

FAR FROM HOME

DEAR FAR: Don't make an issue of it in your letters. You'll only upset her and increase her need to "relax." When you get home, ASK her to please quit. But I warn you, unless she herself is motivated to quit, she probably won't.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and ashamed to admit it, but I still wet the bed. My friends ask me if I can spend the night with them to make up an excuse like, "My mother won't let me." Abby, I know it's a sin to lie, but I just can't tell them I still wet the bed. Can you help me?

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: There are more kids your age who all wet the bed than you would believe, and it's nothing to be ashamed of.

Ask your mom to get a "wet alarm." (It's advertised in leading mail-order catalogues—and it really works! After you've tried it, write again and tell me if it worked for you. I'll send you an envelope.)

Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," is now available to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, CA 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Liquid silicone use dangerous business

CHICAGO (UPI)—There is new evidence that breast enlargement by use of liquid silicone is dangerous business, three New York physicians say.

In a report in this week's Journal of the American Medical Association, the doctors said a woman died only 10 hours after receiving large injections of silicone under each breast. Silicone was found in her lungs, kidneys, liver, brain and blood.

They also reported several cases of serious illness among individuals given injections. Two of the cases were trans-sexual men and the others were women.

Grandes of the silicone had migrated through their bodies and entered the liver with serious complications, the doctors said.

Dr. Richard Ellenbogen of Stony Brook Medical School in East Meadow, N.Y., and colleagues said the "adverse systemic effects of silicone injections suggest that considerable ongoing clinical research is needed before release of these potentially lethal and debilitating substance into general clinical use."

Dance set Saturday

BOISE—The "Fresh Air Party," a fund raiser for Citizens for Alternatives to Poverty, will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The dance, featuring the country music of Tarwater, will be held at the Seven Mile Dancehall west of Boise at Highway 20 and Eagle Road. CAP is an organization promoting use of alternatives to the Idaho Power Co. proposal to build a coal-fired generating plant near Boise.

BPW airs flea market

TWIN FALLS—The Magic Valley Business and Professional Women's Club met Monday at the Colonial House.

The Beta Sigma Phi Flea Market was discussed. It is scheduled for Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church.

Committee chairman gave brief reports. The annual budget was distributed to members.

The next meeting will be Dec. 8 and will be the annual Christmas party at the home of Beverly Whitehead, 205 Filmore. The party will begin at 7:30 p.m.

your health

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

I am in the early stages of my first pregnancy. The problem is I can't keep any foods down. Liquid or solids.

I have been losing weight. 15 pounds in one week. Will this go away? If so, how soon? S.P.

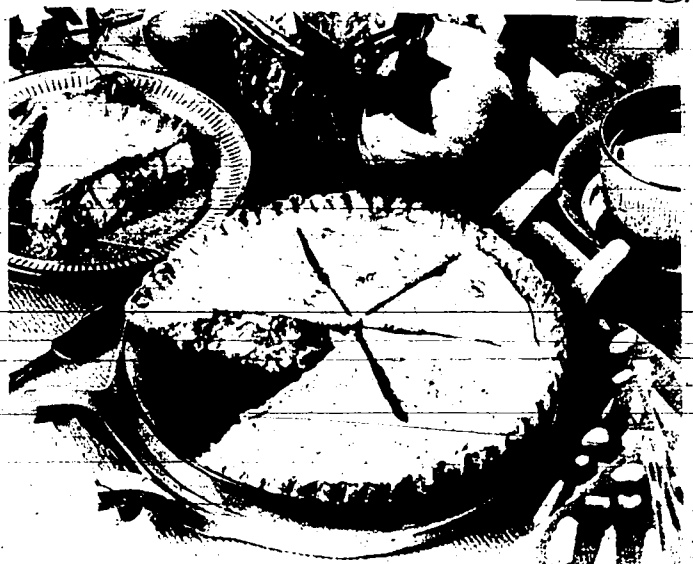

This "morning sickness" usually disappears in a few weeks and it probably will have by the time you read this.

There is speculation that the phenomenon is linked to a decrease in hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which occurs in pregnancy. This disturbs the digestion of food, producing a queasy, sickly feeling.

"Morning sickness" is just a convenient term because its occurrence is most common upon arising. Often the symptoms end by noon and the woman feels quite well until the next morning. This cycle can vary, with the nausea occurring at midday and reappearing the next morning.

Often small, frequent feedings of carbohydrate foods will control the problem. Eating a cracker before arising and avoiding excessive fluids can help.

Your weight loss is quite high, though. Often a weight loss of up to 20 or more pounds is seen in the average gravid woman before the situation is brought under control, and this usually happens within the first three months.

Leftover idea

Sausage stretches turkey leftovers

We've borrowed the title of a once-popular musical play, "Bye, Bye Birdie," to introduce some new ideas for Thanksgiving leftovers.

If like most cooks you're convinced that leftover turkey is nothing to sing about, then this new recipe—should be music to your ears.

The composers of these post-holiday "melodies" are the home economists at the Test Kitchens of The R.T. French Co. in Rochester, N.Y.

Turkey Sausage Pie is a symphony of flavors which combines left-sausage with mild flavored leftover turkey and mushrooms. An envelope of turkey gravy mix on dorsers the hearty filling.

ZESTY sausage is combined with mild flavored leftover turkey and mushrooms for this Turkey Sausage Pie. The two crust pie looks elegant enough for company.

The two crust pie looks elegant enough for company and when the pie is opened their appetites will sing.

TURKEY SAUSAGE PIE

Filling:

4 ounces brown and serve sausage links
1 1/2 cups sliced mushrooms
1 envelope French's Turkey Gravy Mix

1 cup dairy sour cream
2 cups diced cooked turkey
Crust:

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon French's Celery Seed

1 cup shortening
2 1/2 tablespoons cold water
Cream or milk

Brown sausage links; cut into fourths. Drain mushrooms, saving liquid.

Prepare gravy mix according to directions, using mushroom liquid with water added to make one cup. Combine gravy with sour cream, sausage, mushrooms, and turkey; spoon into 9-inch piepan.

For crust, mix flour, salt, and celery seed; cut in shortening. Sprinkle with water, mix with a fork until dough holds together. Roll out pastry into a circle and place on top of filling. Crimp edges, slash, and for a shiny crust, brush with cream or milk.

Bake in 400 degree oven 45 to 50 minutes or until crust is browned and filling bubbling hot. Six servings.

Valley briefs

TWIN FALLS—The Pine Lakes Country Club semi-formal Lights-On Party is scheduled for Dec. 6. The evening will begin with a no-host cocktail hour at 7 p.m. Music will be by the Sun Valley orchestra. The party is limited to the first 50 couples to make reservations.

TWIN FALLS—The Twin Falls Ministerial Association will hold its annual Thanksgiving worship service in the shared facility of Our Savior Lutheran and Valley Christian churches. The service will be held on Thanksgiving Day at 10:30 a.m. The public is invited to participate.

TWIN FALLS—The Swinging 60s will hold a dance Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the 100F Hall. There will be live music for dancing.

TWIN FALLS—Magic Valley Consumer Co-Op will sponsor a flea market beginning at 10 a.m. Dec. 6 in the basement of St. Edward's school. Organizations and individuals may display items for sale. The co-op will ask a five per cent of sale donation. There will be refreshments and recorded music. The sale is open to the public.

Hours set

BUTTE—Hours for Grady's Barn, which features homemade articles for the holiday season, will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. during the 30 days of its operation.

The store opens Friday and will be open continuously for 30 days, with Dec. 7 the final day, according to Mrs. Stan Ayers, one of the partners.

Grady's barn, on the Fowl Chisham farm, is located two miles south and one-quarter mile east of the Bailey corner, at the east edge of Butte.

PUMPKIN PECAN PIE

3 eggs, slightly beaten

1 cup refined or cooked

mashed pumpkin

1 cup sugar

1/2 cup dark corn syrup

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 unbaked nine-inch pastry shell

1 cup chopped pecans

Whipped cream

Combine eggs, pumpkin,

sugar, corn syrup, vanilla, cinnamon and salt. Mix well.

Pour into pastry shell. Top with chopped pecans. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Chill.

To serve, top with whipped cream. Makes one nine-inch pie.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOV. 27, 1975

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when secondary matters require your attention. Formulate a plan for handling them and then plunge into the details involved without delay. Maintain exactness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to be meticulous in whatever you do today and get excellent results thereby. Sociability is the keynote now.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Taking the proper treatments now will keep you looking more charming and feeling much better. Consult a business expert.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Know what is desired by kin and try to please them more so there is greater harmony at home. A new interest needs further study.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get busy at the tasks ahead of you and do them in a precise manner. Don't neglect correspondence that has accumulated.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You now understand how to add to present abundance and where you can cut down on expenses. Show more devotion to loved one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take the necessary treatments so that you can improve both health and appearance. Take time to meet interesting persons.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forget all that social meandering today and get right down to the work that has to be done. Evening is ideal for romance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan time to think over what your aims are and how to go after them intelligently. Attend a group affair this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take care of unfinished duties early in the day. Don't forget to pay pressing bills. The evening is at your command.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go to the right sources for the information you need. Making new contacts yields interesting results at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't neglect to pay important bills. Converse with mate and come to a fine understanding. Be sure to keep your promise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Discuss mutual aims with associates. Improving your wardrobe is fine during your spare time. Use your own excellent taste.

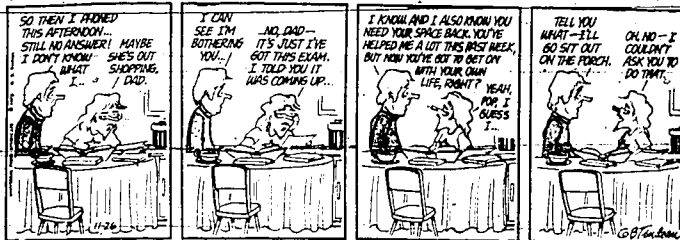

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will become a perfectionist, but is apt to be intolerant of others who are not similarly endowed, so teach to make allowances for the shortcomings of others. Give ethical and spiritual training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

REX MORGAN

what's what

L. M. Boyd

It's a matter of record that some natives of South Pacific islands bend bamboo into six-foot hoops, wait for the giant spiders thereabouts to weave their webs across same, then use those webs most effectively as fishnets.

IN INDIA, it's the men, not the women, who customarily go out for the groceries. And that's a morning chore, so set up because of the long-time lack of refrigeration. Most of what they get they expect to polish off by day's end. This describes the pattern of the poor, please note.

LULU

Q. "What do you call the tax-free allowance given to New York State's legislators in lieu of expense money?"
A. That's known as a "lulu."

THERE'S NO bone in whalebone, no rice in rice paper and no kid in kid gloves, remember that.

MAYBE YOU DIDN'T realize some fish manufacture an antifreeze protein for their bloodstream to keep them from stiffening up in icy water.

CONSIDER all those citizens who read paperback mystery stories. Polls show such readers most likely are college educated souls. They outnumber by somewhat the mystery readers with no more than high school educations.

DOUBLE BED

The standard double bed for grownups is only twice as wide as the standard crib for infants. Ridiculous! For sound uninterrupted sleep, a double bed with two occupants should be 22 inches wider than it is. This is not just one more of our Love and War man's whimsical theories. It comes from an authority who has made an extensive study of sleep, beds and widths of horizontal people.

SOMETIME BACK, a man climbed up on a water tower in Dania, Fla., and threatened to jump. Quite a sizable crowd gathered. Finally somebody talked him out of it and he came down. At that moment the police there were hit with the stunning realization that they had to protect him. The crowd surged forward, threatening to kill him. He had promised to jump, and they had waited all that time, and then he chickened out, the rascal. They were highly upset.

Probing of plot advised

BOSTON (UPI) — Truth serum should be administered to Arthur Bremer to get him to reveal a possible conspiracy behind the shooting of Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the governor's wife, Cornelia Wallace said Monday.

In an exclusive interview with the Christian Science Monitor, the governor's mansion in Montgomery, Ala., Mrs. Wallace said drugs or hypnosis would be "the only way the American public can know the truth for no holds barred, to have anything that we have available to find out the truth from him (Bremer), barring torture or abuse."

"I don't believe in torture or abuse for anyone," Mrs. Wallace said.

Only a federal judge can order the use of hypnosis, but the testimony is inadmissible in federal court. Testimony from "truth serum" type drugs also is inadmissible, a justice department spokesman said.

Her belief in a conspiracy behind Bremer's assassination attempt, which left Wallace crippled, was based on hunches, Mrs. Wallace said.

However, a conspirator or conspirators most likely would be persons who had "the most to gain" from eliminating a presidential candidate, she added.

"At first I have to confess that I thought it was the liberal element of McGovern supporters," Mrs. Wallace said, calling that group "a very Communist liberal element."

"But then when I saw the Eagleton catastrophe and some other things that happened, I think McGovern in a sense was done in, too," she said. "And the man that ended up President was Richard Nixon. So I don't know."

Bremer was convicted in August, 1972 of shooting Gov. Wallace at a Laurel, Md. rally May 15, 1972.

When the Watergate investigation unveiled, the Wisconsin primary as a key target of White House-directed "dirty tricks" against Democratic candidates, some observers speculated Bremer might be linked to the tricksters. He is from Milwaukee.

Gem court says stock bear health warranty

BOISE (UPI) — Most livestock sold by a merchant carry a warranty that they are healthy and fit when sold, the Idaho Supreme Court said in effect today.

In a unanimous opinion written by Justice Allan G. Shepard, the high court upheld a verdict finding a seller of livestock liable for 22 calves which died of an infectious disease shortly after sale.

In September, 1969, Glenn B. Martineau of Sterling bought 123 mixed calves from Hubert Walker of Jerome, intending to raise them as feeder cattle.

The morning after the sale one calf died and during the next three months 22 calves died. Several autopsies revealed the cause of death to be a bacteria-like infection, leptospira, commonly called "lepto."

Expert testimony at the district court trial explained that lepto can be contracted from any number of possible sources, including waterways, wild animals, other livestock or association with any moist soil where the organism lives.

Walker appealed the trial verdict on grounds there was insufficient evidence to show that the infection occurred before he sold the calves. He argued they just as easily have become diseased during shipping, at a veterinary clinic where they were held for three hours or at the ranch where they were delivered.

But the Supreme Court found that testimony at the trial systematically had eliminated all possible sources of infection other than Walker's ranch. It said that it was not necessary to identify his ranch scientifically as the source.

Given undisputed testimony that lepto caused the deaths and given evidence on the incubation period for that disease the high court held that it was proper to rely upon inferential reasoning in order to find Walker liable.

Old toys shown

NEW YORK (UPI) — Antique toys will share the spotlight with "Sesame Street" characters, Big Bird, Bert, Ernie and the Cookie Monster at an annual Christmas exhibit here.

"Memories of a Christmas Past" will run through Jan. 10, 1976 at the Kodak Gallery. Besides toys, it will include photographs, a live puppet show, a continuous movie for children, "The Shoemaker and the Elves," and an old-fashioned amusement park carousel with four hand-carved horses turning around the base of a Christmas tree.

Field trimmed to 7

BOISE (UPI) — Acting Health and Welfare Director Joseph Nagel says he plans to recommend seven persons to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for possible appointment as his permanent successor.

Nagel has declined to take the job on a permanent basis. So has Bernard E. Kelley, Seattle regional director of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A special assistant to the governor, Nagel took over the agency on a temporary basis Oct. 1 when then-Director James A. Bax resigned.

He said he hopes to meet with Andrus sometime this week and at that time will give him a list of seven persons he considers qualified to do the job. Four of the seven are Idahoans, he said. He declined to name them.
